VOLUME EIGHTEEN — ST. CLOUD, OSCEOLA COUNTY THURSDAY, OCTOBER 21, 1926 — NUMBER NINE

St. Cloud Jollies of 1926 Will Be Given at High School Nov. 5th

The biggest fun show for local people ever produced in St. Cloud is in store for amusement seekers, according to an announcement made Wednesday by the Citizens committee, which is endeavoring to raise funds for the purchase of a new heating plant in the tourist club house. The committee has made arrangements with F. C. Lake, of Kissimmee, to produce the Jollies of 1926 in St. Cloud in the high school auditorium on Nov. 5th. A similar show was produced by Mr. Lake in Kissimmee last week and it scored the biggest hit of any home talent show presented in that town in recent years.

While the St. Cloud Jollies will be along the same lines it will be an entirely different show. It will be an all local show with an all local cast. The show calls for a cast of about 25 people. There will be five acts, each one depicting some St. Cloud scene, the characters being local folks well known in club, civic and political life in this city. The doings of these people, which, of course, border on the ridiculous, will be a riot of fun, frolic and frivolity.

All the cream of St. Cloud amateur talent will be seen in this show, and it is expected that new local faces will also appear on the high school stage for the first time. Also one of the unique features of the show will be the appearance of women in male roles. This will produce many laughs.

The Jollies of 1926 is concocted purely for local consumption. Each character will be a person well known to all, and each will be portrayed by an equally well known person.

This show is modeled after the famous gridiron dinner given annually by the Press Club in Washington, D. C. Of course liberties are taken with everyone of national prominence from the president down in that show, and the same idea will be followed in St. Cloud. It's all going to be many a laugh at the expense of the home folk.

The committee in charge asks that everyone bear in mind that the motto of the St Cloud Jollies of 1926 is "Fun for all and all for fun if you can't take a joke take a hike." The committee comprises T. G. Moore, Chairman, H. S. Dawley, C. L. Wheat, H. F. Zetrouer, Miss Ella Kraemer and Mrs. Grace Mitchell. This committee will meet tonight in Mr. Moore's office and listen to the reading of the scenario. Afterward the cast will be selected and rehearsals will begin at once.

The proceeds are for a worth while cause and the committee hopes to realize sufficient money to purchase a heating plant for the tourist club house.

Next weeks Tribune will contain interesting announcements in connection with the show.

MISS RUTH DODDS HONORED AT BUNCO PARTY THURSDAY

Dr. and Mrs. Wm. Dodds entertained a number of the younger set Thursday evening at a bunco party honoring their daughter Miss Ruth Dodds, who graduated last June from high school in Wisconsin. Tables for bunco were placed in the large living room of their attractive Florida avenue home where lilies and cosmos were artistically arranged.

When the tally scores were counted it was found that H. A. Wheelers and Miss Eleanor Farr were winners of the first prizes, while consolation prize was given to Miss Edythe McPherson.

After the bunco game an hour or so of dancing was enjoyed. Refreshments served were ice cream, cake and punch.

The guests invited to meet Miss Dodds were: Misses Dorothy George, Florence Coyle, Abbie and Eleanor Farr, Edythe McPherson, Ruby Long, Carol Henry, Vernal Steen, Martha Parker, Mary Foster, Ruth Carter, of Daytona Beach, and Messrs Frank Miller, Richard Holm, Paul Kirkpatrick, Robert Steen, Clarence Liggitt, Theo. George, H. A. Wheeler, Glenn Egley and Preston Johnson.

MRS. SARAH HAMMOND-BUNNELL SERIOUSLY INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Mrs. Sarah Hammond-Bunnell was seriously injured Monday afternoon when the car in which she was returning with Mrs. Amelia Miller from Pleasant Grove near Dunnellon, Fla., collided with a car driven by Rayford McLaughlin, of Kissimmee, near the curve and railroad crossing at the old city fair-ground south of Kissimmee.

Mrs. Bunnell and Mrs. Miller were returning to St. Cloud after attending a revival meeting at Pleasant Grove. Mrs. Miller's car was turned back toward Tampa and turned over, knocking down several guard posts at the side of the highway.

Mr. and Mrs. McLaughlin hurried to the assistance of the ladies, and found Mrs. Bunnell pinned under the car and Mrs. Miller with her arm broken and her face bruised was extricated from beneath the car and taken to Kissimmee where first aid was received. Mr. Jones, of the Rollin Motor Company in Kissimmee, brought Mrs. Bunnell to her home on north Missouri avenue in St. Cloud. Dr. J. D. Hunn was called to attend Mrs. Bunnell, and it was found that she had sustained serious internal abdominal injuries.

Mrs. Bunnell is the mother of Miss Ethel Hammond, teacher in the vocational school and assistant to Secretary Kelsey of the Chamber of Commerce.

PASTORS OF CITY SHOW SPIRIT OF GOOD FELLOWSHIP AND CO-OPERATION

The pastors of the local churches showed their spirit of co-operation and good fellowship in changing the regular Wednesday prayer meeting to Thursday evening in order that it might not conflict with the Chamber of Commerce "Get-to-Gether" banquet at the city park community club house. When it was found to be impossible to secure one of the principal speakers for the banquet on Thursday evening, the pastors of the various churches readily co-operated in arranging the event for Wednesday.

It takes a real live community, full of pep and optimism in business to help make the churches and schools second to no other city, and we are pleased to note that our city has community interests at heart.

METHODIST CHURCH NOTES

A large congregation gathered at the Methodist church last Sunday evening when a program of special music was followed by a lecture by the pastor on the "Great Welsh Revival." The special music included selections given by Mrs. Kanavel (Soprano solo) Messrs. C. B. Steen, B. Knowles, B. L. Steen and W. Bennett (Male quartet) and an Another by the choir.

Dr. Hyndman, who is himself a native of Wales, prefaced his address by rendering selections of various Welsh hymns in the Welsh language. The famous "Diouch eddo" and "Ton-y-botel" being among the numbers.

After a brief history of the revival, Dr. Hyndman gave an account of some of his personal experiences as one of the workers in the great religious awakening.

PARENTS-TEACHERS PROGRAM BY MEN

The members of the Parents-Teachers association are looking forward to having an unusually interesting program. The one special attraction is the fact that the program committee composed of men with C. N. McMullen as chairman assisted by O. L. Weatherbee and J. F. Daniels are expected to have a rare treat in store for those who avail themselves of this evening entertainment, which will be held in the high school auditorium Monday night at 8 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Ross have returned from Belfast, Maine.

RECEIVER OF BANK OF SAINT CLOUD ON JOB

G. A. Peed who has been appointed receiver of the Bank of Saint Cloud, is now in charge and is keeping the bank open daily from 9 to 12 a. m. and from 1 to 3 p. m., that the people may visit Bank of Saint Cloud and have call and settle their obligation to the excess to their safety deposit boxes.

Several thousand dollars have already been collected, and it is hoped collections will move rapidly in order that a dividend can be declared to depositors at the earliest possible date.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Payne and Mrs. Gould spent the day at Mt. Plymouth Tuesday.

NOTICE OF MASS MEETING

The people of Osceola county are urgently invited to attend a Mass Meeting, to be held at band shell on corner of New York avenue and Tenth street, St. Cloud Florida, Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock, October 23rd, 1926.

Issues touching the present local campaign will be discussed from a non-partisan standpoint. Things of interest to each of you as tax payers and citizens will be presented.

Osceola County Non-partisan Organization.

Joins "Pig Woman"

Harry Dickman, former investigator in the now-famous Hall-Mills case has joined Miss Jane Gibson (the pig woman) as a star witness. Rumors of perjury and bribery are rampant and Prosecutor Simpson claims the ex-soldier has made startling discoveries.

"St. Cloud Don't Need Tombstone, She Aint Dead!"

Promptly at 6:30 o'clock the Knickerbocker orchestra struck up strains of music and the guests at the Get-to-gether banquet given by the Chamber of Commerce had already begun to arrive. As they came they were seated at the tables which were attractively decorated in Hallowe'en colors with orange candles on each of the six long tables. After all that could be seated were placed, the lights were turned off and the candles lighted, which presented a scene which made you think of "Ye olden times." After the large number of attractive young ladies had served the first course, which was most daintily served, consisting of chicken and all the "fixens", the lights were turned on and a most enjoyable social time followed. The orchestra played during the dinner hour. Dessert of ice cream and cake was served.

President Landiss called the meeting to order and stated its purpose.

A quartette and encore by Dawley, Porter, Bennett and Landiss was a good starter.

President Landiss introduced Hon. Ellis Davis, attorney of Kissimmee, and St. Cloud, who was to be the "key note" speaker. After expressing in a gracious manner the pleasure of himself and wife in being a part of this splendid gathering, he went immediately into his theme, the subject of which was "Encouragement," stressing the fact that it is an element that does not cost a dime, yet is of inestimable value in getting best results with school children, boy scouts, religious training, citizenship, teaching proper reverance to "Old Glory" band work etc. Bearing in mind that encouragement and courtesy given new comers in our city, in fact selling St. Cloud to St. Cloud people meant in a few years a city of a least 8,000 inhabitants. Back country will be developed and prosperous farmers with modern homes, living near us and being a part of us will be the result.

G. C. Hunter, a man of large business experience was the next speaker called. Mr. Hunter gave an illustration of statements heard on the street.

The other day one man who was passing through, asked a man on the side-walk, "How's business?" Answer, "rotten!" There is no reason for gloom, trouble is largely within ourselves. We can not afford to knock our own town.

One of the most pleasing numbers was a solo and encore by Fred Smith accompanied on the piano by Leon D. Lamb.

President Landiss said that while listening in on the radio he heard Ed and Mamma McConnell in Chicago boosting St. Cloud. They were telling that the soil was so fertile here that G. C. Hunter started a bungalo before he left last spring, and while he was gone it grew into a fine large hotel.

"Farmer" A. H. Merritt spoke briefly but with much humor. He said that encouragement was not what he needed but sun shine was his reason for being a resident of St. Cloud. After a tour of the United States he picked this location for future action.

Members of the quartette came in, addressed the chair, and S. W. Porter acting as spokesman offered the following resolution which was sung to the tune of "After the Ball", which brought the house down.

Now that the boom is over
And all our signs in vain,
We'll spade up our subdivisions
And speed up the tractors again.
Fertilize trees that are dying
Laugh at foreclosure alarms.
Plant out some corn and potatoes
And advertise Florida farms.

H. L. Steen brought to the audience the value of a Chamber of Commerce to a community in which he stated that "organized effort is any line is a success", "but in the organized effort of Chamber of Commerce work there is greater value than any other." ether."

The reception committee deserve much credit for the manner in which this evening's entertainment was handled. After two hundred tickets were sold, it became necessary to change the place of meeting to the Community club house, in the city park to accommodate the guests. The committee had one regret and that was they could not serve the crowd, as there were about four hundred in attendance and they had thought they that they would be lucky if two hundred attended.

"St. Cloud don't need any tomb stone she is far from dead."

Such inspirational meetings as this, if held once a month, would meet with universal enthusiasm.

They are as follows:

Post, the Spanish War Veterans, the Legion Post, the Legion Auxiliary, the Boy Scouts and various civic bodies will take part. The line of march will end at the City Park shortly before 11 a. m. At that hour the city whistle will blow and after a minute of silence, taps will be sounded. An address of welcome and the offical opening of the festival will be given by the Mayor, and the address of the day will be given by Dr. Hamilton Holt of Rollins college. At one thirty a tennis tournament will be started as well as a horse shoe match. At two o'clock there will be a pep meeting for the High School football team, who will be sent on their way to Kissimmee for their annual game with Osceola High school. During the afternoon bulletins of the progress of the game will be announced from the band shell. At three o'clock there will be a band concert in which the famous drum corps of the G. A. R. Post will take part. During the evening the Boy Scouts will give an exhibition, a children's hour will be held at seven-thirty and at nine o'clock a player will be given at the club house.

Friday will see putting contests, the continuance of the tennis tournament, three legged and potato races, sack race, a casting tournament for the fishermen. In the afternoon, through the courtesy of Dickensheets Dept. Store of Orlando, the fashion show of that store will put on a show of the latest season's creations. The contestants for the beauty show will be introduced at the club house in the evening. This event will be followed by a dance.

On Saturday there will be an archery tournament, another exhibition by the Boy Scouts, and the final voting for the King and the Queen of the Festival. On Saturday morning it is planned to have a comic parade, while the day will end with the formal crowning of the King and the Queen, who will lead a grand march as an opening feature to the farewell dance.

In addition to the Festival program a tentative slate for the officers of the Legion for the following year was adopted. It is understood that other nominations may be made in addition to those of Monday evening.

After refreshments had been served by the auxiliary, the meeting adjourned. A special effort will be made to get members of the Legion who belong to other than the local post to affiliate with it for the coming year. As dues in the Legion date from October 20, it is suggested that all legionaires join the local post for the coming season. Information as to the date and place of meeting may be obtained from the Chamber of Commerce.

Next Monday night, October 25 will be election of officers of the Legion and a large attendance is expected.

MR. AND MRS. A. C. TUCKER

The sad news has reached us of the death of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Tucker at their home in Providence, R. I., where they had just returned from their beach home. This was the cause of their death.

During their stay two years ago in St. Cloud in company with Mrs. K. C. Browning, they lived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Eiselstein.

The acquaintances and friends here will regret to learn of their death.

RED CROSS MEETING

There was an interesting meeting of the local Red Cross at the city library on Tuesday afternoon at which time Mrs. Charlotte Heilman, national speaker of Red Cross, with headquarters at Jacksonville was present, and spoke on world wide growth of the Red Cross and its influence for international friendship and peace.

She stressed the point that there is no other common ground upon which the fifty-eight nations meet with one common purpose with the simple creed "Human Helpfulness."

The question whether or not the St. Cloud chapter is to continue, was discussed at length. In order to know the feeling of the people of this city in regard to this subject a mass meeting will be held at the Red Cross headquarters at the Chamber of Commerce rooms next Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

BAPTIST CHURCH NOTES
(Rev. B. Atchison, Pastor)

New faces are now seen in the congregation every week. The services are all well attended. Four new members were received into the fellowship of the church last Sunday morning. The subject for the morning sermon was put in the form of a question, "Do we need a spiritual awakening here in St. Cloud?" We tried to prove by the scriptures that God had made some gracious provisions for the failures and shortcomings of His people. The experience of the average Christian is so changeable, on the mountain top today and down in the valley tomorrow. He has therefore made ample provision for the church or the individual that feels their spiritual need to revive the work of grace in the soul and anoint with the Holy Spirit for service. This manifestation of God's power in the church will result naturally in the conversion of sinners and this is what we mean by a revival meeting and also the kind of a meeting that St. Cloud needs.

Such a meeting cannot be worked up by the energy of the flesh but can be prayed down from heaven whenever and wherever a sufficient number in the church are willing to meet the conditions which are clearly revealed in the scriptures.

There is no question about the need, not only here in St. Cloud but everywhere. Let us therefore pray earnestly for such an awakening here in St. Cloud.

Some have been enquiring recently about the principles of the Baptist church. As a result the pastor will preach next Sunday morning on "What the Baptist Church Stands For," or "Why Am I a Baptist?" During the evening service we will endeavor to explain the 20th chapter of Matt. and especially verse six as a result of a special request last Sunday. Strangers are always welcome to every meeting of the church. "Come thou with us and we will do thee good." Special music will be rendered by the male quartette at both services next Sunday.

Mrs. James Campbell, who has been attending the National Encampment of the G. A. R. and visiting relatives in Minnesota, returned Saturday night.

STATE AND NATIONAL CONVENTION OF REALTORS

At a meeting of the Realtors Board Friday many matters were up for consideration. Those present were R. L. Steen, Mrs. Louise B. Rosenthal, G. C. Hunter, Wm. Landiss, S. W. Porter, H. A. Haymaker, C. S. and H. S. Dawler.

A communication was received with reference to the state convention of the realtors association which is to be held November 4, 5, and 6, at Daytona Beach. The invitation includes the wives and children of the Realtors. One round of good time is promised.

At the national convention to be held in Miami, January 12, 13 and 14 a sight seeing trip over the state, has been arranged at the close of the convention. A special train to convey the party has been arranged for by the state association. The train will be parked at various points along the route, and the trip will be varied by excursions in automobiles which will enable the visiting realtors to become acquainted with the cities and their surrounding regions in detail. This tour will last for seven days and end at Jacksonville.

The matter of a demonstration farm was taken up and discussed at length and a committee consisting of S. W. Porter, H. A. Haymaker and H. S. Dawley was appointed for the purpose of formulating a workable plan.

ARCHERY—NO. 2

The bow is undoubtably the oldest weapon in use today and that it is still in use as the main weapon of people of today is proven by the recent discovery's of a party of explorers in Dutch Guiana, who found a tribe of negroid pygmies whose only weapon was the bow and arrow.

The bow has existed in every country as a principle weapon of offense and defense except in Australia and even there miniature bows have been found which shot a tiny poisoned arrow which the native black man carried in his hair.

The origin of the first bow is so ancient that it is, of course unknown. But archaeologists because of discoveries of the last decades place the date of the first flint arrow heads at 25000 years ago and undoubtably the first arrows were only sharpened sticks or even just the blunt stick may have been used before they thot of sharpening them.

Until the discovery of gun-powder the bow was the mainstay of all the military nations of the earth. The Ancient Parthians carried their bows into all parts of Asia. The Roman army of Caesar won by force of arms the subjection of all the then known world with the bow and arrow. The Hordes of Attila, the Greeks and Egyptians found in it a conquering weapon also.

The greatest fighting men of all time, the Scandinavian Vikings, of the year 400 and 450 A. D. used a bow very similar to the ones now in use, being from 5 feet and 6 inches to 6 feet long and the only important difference is that the flat side of their bow was the belly and the round side the block; which is the reverse of the long-bow of today.

In the hands of the English the bow was developed to its highest state and due to their temperament they become its most skilled users—and many were the laws passed regulating its manufacture and use.

Our fore-fathers lived and died by the bow and arrow and in England five Kings have been shot with it. Archery is often called the sport of Kings, but it seems to have been the death of Kings as well.

"THE GOOSE THAT LAID THE GOLDEN EGG"

Aesop, or perhaps it was another of those ancient character's of mythology tells the story of a farmer who owned a wonderful goose. The greatest selling point about this goose was that every day it laid an egg of solid gold. By marketing the daily offerings of this remarkable fowl the farmer was enabled to pay off the mortgage, buy a fine six cylinder car, and generally improve his worldly condition. After a time he waxed impatient of the slow but sure income from the goose, and, possibly urged to the act his wife killed the goose in order to get all the wealth of golden eggs which he thought she was holdin' out on him. As a result he probably realized a few small nuggets, but when these were spent, he was compelled to dig out his old patched overalls and get back on the job of tilling his fields to keep the well known wolf away from the well-known door.

Now one could not accept this yarn as being literally true, but like so many ancient, oriental legends, it teaches us a lesson that is fundamentally true. The mental process of the farmer of the legend is identical to the lack of foresight shown by a good many of the property owners right here in St. Cloud today.

Our merchants, business men, banks, realtors and home owners depend for their annual tide of golden prosperity on the winter visitors who annually migrate southward fleeing from the rigors of the long northern winters. These people know that we have an unequaled winter climate to offer them, and as long as we will let them they will be back winter after winter with the unfailing regularity of the auriferous goose of the legend. They will however resent, and quite properly, too, being exploited and fleeced to fill the pockets of the Florida people whose part should be that of their hosts.

I have conversed with tourists who are in this city, because the rentals demanded in neighboring towns were prohibitive, and also talked with people who were leaving St. Cloud for other points, because they felt that we were out to rob them here.

A property owner who has rooms, apartments and houses to rent is surely entitled to a reasonable profit to be computed. Many people are too much inclined to define it as all the traffic will bear. Tactics of this sort result will cause the tourist to be inclined to regard the whole town with the same feeling that he regards his landlord, and the town as a whole gets a black eye as a result of the selfishness of the individual.

Rents should be computed according to the amount invested in the property, plus carrying charges such as insurance and taxes divided by the average number of months that the property may reasonably be expected to rent, say five or six months out of every year. If the property rents for the year-round, the monthly rental can be consideredly less, and still make money for the house holder. No one can reasonably object to paying for a thing what it is worth, but they can and do object to paying more.

Let our people, who own rental property, sit down with paper and pencil and figure out what their rentals should be instead of sizing up their prospect and asking him all that you think he can stand.

This policy will fill your house with paying guests while your "hit or miss" neighbor's house is empty and will leave a much better taste in the mouth of your tenant and insure for St. Cloud in the future a continuance of that friendly feeling on the part of our northern visitors that she has enjoyed so largely in the past.

Don't be one of those who are doing their best to kill the goose that lays the golden egg.

THE JUNK PILE

By "CAP"

Just one word of explanation, gentle(or otherwise) reader. This column is not the mouth piece of any one or anything except the writer. If statements appear in it the writer as a private individual alone is responsible. That is the reason that this column is signed, so that there may be not doubt as to its source as the emanations of an alleged mind.

Hence the reason for the Junk Man's having trained so industriously thes last few weeks, he can now do a hundred in a little less than nothing if need should arise.

A query heard in the lobby of the St. Cloud Hotel will bear repetition: "What is the use of keeping a cow when milk is so cheap?" Think that one over.

Also did you hear the one about the summer girl who, when her boy friend asked her to give him something that he could carry in the back of his watch to remember her by, promptly handed him her bathing suit?

If all the plans of the Legion Post come true St. Cloud certainly is going to have a humdinger of an Armistice Day celebration. Perhaps its name as a "Home Coming Celebration" is better for the plans embrace a three day program with parades, and beauty shows, and kings and queens an' everything.

Anyway, the Legion and their ladies have a way of putting on a good show in this town, and it is not telling any secrets to say that this year will be the best one ever.

As this goose is prone another celebration will be just starting. We refer to the get-to-gether dinner at the Chamber of Commerce, an occasion when all gloom and pessimism is to be buried for all times and St. Cloudites will again stand shoulder to shoulder in a solid phanlax for the welfare of their city and its advancement.

Say what you please, anytime that a city the size of St. Cloud can dig up twenty-five thousand dollars and start a new bank, after a long hard summer it is inherently sound and all right.

Did you ever think of the history of Florida towns? It's a pretty fine record. Jacksonville burned up and today better and bigger than ever. Key West wrecked by a hurricane more than once and a fine clean out city today. Moore Haventes after all their harrowing experience just raring to get in and rebuild their town, those on the east cost already making their beautiful Wonder City a greater and more beautiful city than ever and we here in St. Cloud?

Burned out in 1917. The First National Bank failure six months later, the bank trouble of the past summer and still we go serenely on our way, Rebuilding where necessary, new pavements, new sewers, new water mains, new bank—why just try to stop this town and you will think that you are mingling with the business end of a five ton Mack truck.

Its tough luck to have to paint floors, but its tougher luck yet to have a cat arrive just after the floors are painted. If you don't believe it ask John Woods at the St. Cloud Hotel.

Alice in Wonderland said "That pigs might fly, but that they made unlikely birds." The Junk Man is glad in more ways than one that pigs don't fly.

Here is a suggestion for a new industry in our fair city, a real business opportunity. Why does not some woman establish a button-sewing-hole-mending bureau? Surely such a thing is needed if the Junk Man's clothes are any criterion, and surely too, there are enough widowers, bachelors and unsuccessful husbands to keep such an establishment busy.

You can put a red ring around the next few weeks, for they are going to be lively times in St. Cloud. First comes the Get-To-Gether dinner at the Chamber of Commerce, then the opening of the new bank which from every indication will be some where in the first part of November, and then the three-day party beginning Armistice Day. And that is just the beginning of things. From then on there will be odin's, socially, and in a business way as well.

But don't make the mistake of trying to compare this year with last. It's not fair to the state, to the visitors or to yourself. It's going to be a tough lesson to learn, but those who expect a repetition of 1925 are going to feed themselves. The true basis of comparison is with the same months in 1924. And if you will look you will find that 1926 is way ahead of that mark, and if you will remember 1924 wasn't such a bad year after all. Let's be normal, and base our comparions and our hopes on normalcy rather than superheated optimism that generally leaves indigestion instead of prosperity behind it.

Every sign that amounts to anything indicates that we are in for a slow sure steady growth just like the rest of the state; that it is up to us to develope something more than just our wonderful climate, which in the case of St. Cloud, is its wonderful farming lands. More cars are coming across the St. Johns river bridge at Jacksonville than in 1924. More freight cars are in actual use. Home building is on the increase in every city in the state worthy of the name. Maybe there "aint no boom", but what we have, and what we can get if we will go out and get it is worth a thousand times more for permanent prosperity.

The Junk Man has more than once seen a similar situation in the automobile business. Times have been in that industry when you couldn't get cars fast enough, when you didn't sell them, the public just took them away from you and even the veriest dub of a sales man was making commissions hand over fist. Then somehow, no one knew just why, the selling fell off, and the order takers fell away and the real salesmen remained, and kept right on building up and making money. That's pretty much the situation today in the real estate field. The man with something real to sell, and the ability to sell it may not do quite so much business, but what he does will stay put and there won't be so many cancellation and "slow" notes and things a year from now. One may have to really work to sell, but after all that's to be expected to any line of endeavor at any time.

In other words don't get peevish and down hearted, because they are not forcing money on you today, any guy can take money when its given him, but just hang on and work all the harder, and before the winter is a thing of the past you will find that this season has not been such a bad thing after all. Polly Anna? Not at all. Just plain hoss sense.

Outside of that, cheer up anyway. You might have had hash for breakfast. Good bye, folks till next week.

Sanford is known as the "Florida Celery City," but it is now making a record for growing pepper, the crop this year, it is estimated, will exceed $100,000 in values.

THRILLING RIDES IN "OUT OF THE WEST"

Three thrilling rides are just part of the excitement in Tom Tyler's latest F. B. O. release, "Out of the West," to be shown at the Popular Theatre next Saturday. One of the rides is made by little Frankie Darro on his dashing pony, and in the climax, a novel rescue is made which is guaranteed to be a breath-taking incident. Aside from the three R's found in the Western primer, namely Ridin', Repin' and Romance, this picture offers a different slant on the cowboy life—it portrays a cowhand who has talent galore when it comes to playing baseball. He is such a success in the latter that he is finally given a chance to join a big league. However, the girl of his heart decides whether her sweetheart is to be a cowboy or a ball player. The girl is played by Bernice Welch, while others in the cast are: J. O'Connor, Ethan Laidlaw, Alfred Hewston, Gertrude Claire and Barney Furey.

Nervous Spells, Indigestion and General Weakness Relieved by Tanlac. Claims It Has No Equal

Austin A. Tressott, who carried the colors of the 21st infantry from Mississippi, in the Civil War, and residing at 2820 Oak Street, Vicksburg, Mississippi, says: "Tanlac is wonderful. It has helped both my wife and myself.

"I suffered from nervous spells perhaps due to advanced age. I was restless and at times food that I ate caused severe indigestion pains. And my wife suffered similar troubles. We tried a great many remedies without success. Then quite by chance we met Tanlac.

"This tonic has no equal. It has helped us both. It seems to have the power to wipe out stomach troubles, put strength into weakening bodies, and soothe the nerves. Tanlac keeps my stomach, liver and kidneys toned up and free from poisons."

Tanlac does banish pain that causes broken health. It often subdues serious ailments and builds up strength in famished bodies. It frees the system from the poisons caused by constipation and sluggish liver. It is Nature's remedy made from roots, barks and herbs according to the famous Tanlac formula.

It is said that "ox-warble" fly does attack not only cattle but also men and children. They generally sting cattle in the hoof, the grubs hatch and work their way around through the body. With the men and children the grubs work their way from the legs through the body to the back, stomach, root of tongue and teeth. Fly-Tox against ox-warble fly. E. T. MINOR Democratic nominee for re-election County Commissioner District No. 5.

To the Voters of Osceola County:

I am the Democratic Nominee for County Commissioner from Districe No. 5 having been nominated by the largest majority over my opponent of any Candidate in this district.

I have served as County Commissioner for the past two years, and have worked hard and earnestly for good roads and the betterment of the county, and, if elected, to this office again, I pledge myself to work and support all matters that is for the best interest to the county, namely, good roads, drainage and navigable canals, which I think will give us cheaper freight rates.

I was in the general contracting business for 20 years, building Macadam roads, railroad and all kinds of commercial buildings, and I thoroughly understand all such work.

At present, I am developing a grove, three miles north of Kenansville having set out ten acres to citrus last year, and expect to set out the same amount this winter.

To those that don't know me I refer you (without permission) to either of the banks in Kissimmee.

Thanking you for your past support, and, assuring you I will appreciate any support and influence in the future, I am, Yours for Victory, November 2, 1926.

The Greater Love

The emotional force which the young singer used in her great Operatic roles began to display itself, as she restlessly paced the length of the room and continued to talk.

"Don't you realize that if Barry thinks you're playing with him that it will absolutely break his heart?" she demanded, gazing directly into my face.

"Oh, I don't believe that!" I exclaimed. "Barry thinks he cares for me but I believe it is because, manlike, he thought he could never have me while I belonged to someone else. He wove poetry and romance around what he believed to be his unrequitted desire. It was his 'love x' the unattainable—his zest for the chase, also his sympathy for what he thought was my unhappy plight which prompted him to ask me to be his wife. If I should change my mind after I've secured the divorce, I know he would soon forget." I had ignored Lemoyne's scorn, my only wish being to make her less sad, and so the words fell thick and fast, as I voiced the haphazard phrases which tumbled about in my mind.

"How can you sit there and talk in that cool, indifferent manner about the man for whom I would gladly lay down my life?" she cried, "you know what he means to me, do you not? You were bound to have known in Paris how much I cared and it seems to me that you deliberately made yourself attractive before his eyes to steal the love which was mine. Mine, I tell you! Do you hear?" She stood motionless before my chair, her whole face was deathly white. "Ellie told me when we first met you that you were a merciless flirt and I believe it now."

"What have you to offer him?" she asked, "not even the love that he craves. You say you are marrying him to help him with his work. It isn't so, you're deceiving yourself! Deep down in your heart you know and you can't deny that you still love Curtiss Wright. You've had a quarrel with him and you're snatching at Barry's proposal with only your own welfare in sight. Let us be frank. Am I not right?"

A dramatic silence ensued.

"Well, what if I have considered myself?" I flashed back at her, almost indignant, though I still held my temper in check. "I'm only human you know and besides I've explained to Barry exactly how I feel. I've been absolutely honest with him about the whole affair."

"And he still wants you? Is satisfied with the sort of jelly-fish affection you're offering his in the place of love? Oh," she moaned, "he has simply lost his head, poor, dear boy." Great tears stood in her eyes.

I was greatly moved.

"He told me you no longer loved him," I said, "and I believed it was true."

"Yes, I know. He would tell you anything to win his point. He has an impulsive nature like that. And he believed if he should lose you his whole future would be wrecked. Although I want you to marry him now, I wish to God we had talked things over before you gave him your word."

"Why, Lemoyne," I said softly, "I do not understand, you say you love him and that I will not made him a good wife and yet you urge me to marry him. You are inconsistent, to say the least."

I was no longer incensed at her tirade. I only felt a desire to right the unhappy situation which I had unwittingly created by my acceptance of Barrington Pierce.

"What use is there for me to do since you've led him on, to this point. I'd like to know! It's too late to reason with him now. Before you held out hope to him he had philosophically accepted the fact that you were another man's wife and he would have given up the memory of you and gone on to his glorious heights. He should never marry and he knows it as well as I. He only consented to such an arrangement because he knew he could not have you unless he did."

"Naturally," I replied, "and if he shouldn't marry me why do you want him?" I exclaimed.

"You silly little fool!" she cried "What do I care whether he marries me or not. I wouldn't marry him if I could because I realize he shouldn't be shackled with responsibilities and hedged about with monotonous routine. Such an existence would kill his imagination—the driving force behind his creative art."

"And yet you advise me to go ahead and marry him under conditions such as these?" I asked becoming more and more puzzled all the while. She walked to the group of windows and stood with bowed head evidently in profound thought. It was several minutes before I knew whether or not she had heard.

"Don't you see how hard you're making it for me?" she wheeled suddenly and there was a look of torture in her clear brown eyes. "I want to do the right thing for Barry. I want to be unselfish, but it's so desperately hard! By urging you to marry him I am sacrificing the only thing in life that means anything to me, but I could bear even that if I thought you would, or could, fill his life. But I know you cannot. And yet," she continued, raising her face and looking straight into my eyes, "I'm afraid if you back out now it might cause him to lose his shining ideals and his beautiful faith. Don't you, can't you see what I mean?" she flung out her hands in hopeless despair.

How thoroughly she knew him! Better than I could ever hope to do. She had analyzed his temperament, his artistic nature and his varying moods. Hers was a tremendous passion. Of course I would give him up.

"Listen, Lemoyne," I sprang to my feet and swiftly crossing the room I put my arms about her shoulders. "I'm not going to marry Barrington Pierce! I couldn't, to save my life, because I belong too completely to Curtiss Wright. I see now what a terrible injustice it would be, not only to Barry, but to myself. Thank you so much for opening my eyes and making me see what a little beast I would have been to accept Barry as a second choice playmate to ease my heart. He won't want to hold me to my promise against my will, he's much too fine for that." Her eyes began to gleam and she grasped my hand. She realized that ··· decision had been made and she could not conceal her joy. "He won't be soulditered either. You monkey!"

"I'm sorry, that I was so frank," she smiled, "and I stologize for the unkind things I said but," her voice broke, "I just couldn't help it, Sallie—dear."

We embraced affectionately and I took my leave. As I stepped out into the brilliant noon-tide I came face to face with Mrs. Wright. She was a cousin of Curtiss and I knew by her smile that there would be news from home.
